AXON

AXON Energy Products (AXON), through its subsidiary, AXON Rig Concept and Design, uses ProjectTools' Engineering and Commissioning modules to manage the lifecycle of their design-built drilling package projects. AXON's general scope includes the FEED phase to construction and final commissioning. The engagement between ProjectTools and AXON will likely expand as the company is rapidly growing its project list. Along with implementing ProjectTools Engineering and Commissioning modules, AXON has utilized ProjectTools' Product Services Team for onsite consulting and training services.

AXON is a growing visionary in rig concept and design, specializing in engineering and project management services geared towards drilling package design and construction projects. The rig concept and design group is one of AXON's six divisions, including Pressure Products, Well Intervention Products, Drilling Products, Downhole Products and Tubular Products. Specifically, AXON is well known for providing a wide range of oil and gas products and services, using its expertise and responsive delivery time. With a heavy presence in the Gulf of Mexico, AXON is a global company represented in countries such as North America, Western Europe, Asia and the Middle East.
