Challenges

Codimar faced substantial challenges in 2023, urging the company to recognize the need for digital transformation.

Challenges such as manufacturing errors, delivery times to international clients, and high labor costs demanded immediate attention across all professional levels.

Without a digital training approach, these issues further exacerbated Codimar's operational efficiency and growth.

Solutions

- Comprehensive Codimar-specific Lean Six Sigma training on Enabley reshaped the factory's behavior.
- Both face-to-face and online formats were used, enabling floor workers to learn advanced Kaizen methods and middle management to become Black Belts.
- Codimar's machining experts guided the establishment of a Machining School, developing skilled team from scratch.
- In upgrading the product configuration with Application Identifiers, staff learned new codes and definitions. International clients and engineering integrators were also trained.

In just six months, all participants transformed into effective change agents, leading substantial improvements.
