Designmodo

Designmodo create websites and email builders designed for developers and non-tech users.

This popular website is visited by web and design professionals – companies, agencies, and freelancers alike – over 800,000 times per month. It's often used as a reference and resource by many design and coding schools.

Designmodo's tools include Postcards (an email builder), Slides (website builder), a Bootstrap website builder called Startup, as well as a market selling digital products for web professionals.

The blog is also a great knowledgebase for both beginners and advanced designers looking to expand and improve their skills, with articles, tutorials, and design industry news.

Founded in 2010 by Andrian Valeanu, Designmodo began to create and sell premium UI kits before stepping into the world of WooCommerce in August 2013. This international team's offering has now evolved to include advanced website builders made exclusively for developers, making them a pioneer in this area.

"...In any business, creativity is an important aspect. Be creative in your endeavours." – Andrian Valeanu, founder

Visitors can also search job listings and connect with great companies via the Designmodo Jobs Board.
