Do Something Different

Behaviour change management consultancy

Do is a preeminent behavior change management consultancy. They help a wide range of top tier clients and organisations around the world looking to improve their staff capabilities. Due to unprecedented growth, the company had amassed multiple Google domains and need to consolidate to improve efficiency and effectiveness. Our team was commissioned to help them overhaul their Google Workspace environment to a new domain which was planned and the migrated safely. Today we continue to support the Google setup to make sure the company remains at the cutting edge

"With the appropriate planning of the Steegle Team the migration to our new domain was effortless, and today even though we have our own in-house technical team we rely on Steegle to manage our Google infrastructure as it gives us one less thing to worry about."

Ray Richards, CEO
