

Helipan website

Helipan is a company dedicated to everything that has to do with helicopters. They offer services like aero taxis, tours around Panama City and even a pilot school! With more than 20 years in the market, they have become a leader in the helicopter providing business, they manage a fleet of 7 helicopters and have representatives both in Panama and Costa Rica.

With the use of Drupal 8 we developed a self-manageable website where they can offer their services to clients online, the goal of this was to increase their presence for everyone out there who might not know them. The website includes a blog and gallery section and can be switched between English and Spanish. This website's strong point is the graphic design, it was designed to give a feeling of lightness and openness so users can navigate through it swiftly.
