Hosa is the leading supplier of analog and digital connectivity solutions to the musical instrument and professional audio industries.

Synonymous with music since 1984, Hosa cables, adaptors, and other accessories help music flow from artists' hearts to listeners' souls.

“We make physical connections between the equipment but the most important connection we make is the human connection.”

Enthusiasts and professionals alike rely upon the Buena Park-based brand to deliver world-class performance and quality, both on-stage and in the studio.

Hosa's site – developed by digital agency, VividCandi – presents this aspect in the best way possible. A custom theme is used to create a clean, positive place where people who are passionate about music and sound can gather to find the solutions to connect them to those passions.

Visitors can quickly find the products they need using the easy-to-follow catalog, created with WooCommerce, or explore by category, line, or part number via the search field.
