

Web design customer: Host Heaven UK

Project Brief: This customer came to us with a messed up website, he had been promised the earth by another website designer, but when it came down to the actual website. What he was given was utterly unprofessional and unusable. The customer came and had a meeting with us and we helped him by sorting out the problems with his domain name and his hosting, and by building his website for him from scratch.

Customers Video Review / Testimonial Transcript: "My name is Ratip Alsuliaman, I contacted the web design company to build a website for us, and I met with the owner Joseph of The Web Design Company and he is very very helpful. We met, we talked and we had a coffee, he is a very very amazing person and he built a website. The website is fantastic, whenever we phoned them, they are available, they are very supportive, and I recommend anybody to do a web design with them. They are a very very good company and I guarantee that you will be very happy at the end of the day with the job they do. This is my experience with them, thank you."
