

Web design customer: In The Borough – London

Project Brief: This customer had paid another website developer to build a website for him, however he had waited for 2 years and had ended up with something that looked awful and didn't do what he had asked for. He was recommended to us by a relative and was over the moon to get the exact website he had in his mind just 2 months later.

Customers Video Review / Testimonial Transcript: "So, The Web Design Company, what can I tell you about the web design company? I've had many experiences trying to create the ideal website, and most of them have failed until this moment, where I can assure you that intheborough.com is the Rolls Royce of websites. And it is all credit to, erm no, absolute total credit to The Web Design company. So if you need someone to create or recreate or build or just to modify a website, speak to Joseph"
