Volunteer Group Has More Time for Mission after Implementing When I Work

Prior to When I Work scheduling and communicating was taking her hours each month which kept her from important work like focusing on funding applications.

"I used to spend two or three evenings a month updating the schedule manually plus writing/responding to individual emails. Now it only takes me 2 hours to create the schedule for the month. "

– Petrina McNeill , Gallery Manager

At the Lake Country Art Gallery Petrina has 3 employees to manage and over 70 volunteers. Prior to When I Work scheduling and communicating was taking her hours each month which kept her from important work like focusing on funding applications. She now has hours back in her schedule and access to accurate data that is required to complete funding applications.
