Airlines

A major international airline operationalized a unified incident response approach across a complex workforce in less than three months, equipping executives with real-time situational awareness and reducing the risk of missteps that could trigger regulatory or legal consequences.

Business Outcomes

- Real-time visibility for executives during incidents
- Clear task ownership and accountability to reduce risk
- Auditable records for internal and regulatory review

> "We needed a holistic case management platform that's repeatable, auditable and defensible. The BreachRx platform captures reasoning why we did or did not do something. Engaging external stakeholders is no longer challenging."
