Liverpool City Council: engaging on tough spending decisions

Liverpool City Council was facing a huge budget challenge – needing to deliver a £90million budget reduction over the course of three years. They used Budget Simulator to consult and engage with citizens – setting them the challenge of ‘balancing the books’. More than 500 participants responded, providing the Council with some great insights into residents’ key concerns and priorities.

"This online tool simulates the difficult decisions that we will have to make...it gives us valuable feedback on what people see as the priorities for spending over the next year."

Mayor of Liverpool
