Cut down development time.

CHALLENGE & SOLUTIONS

KRESS Employment Screening is a small business in Texas, and its development team is small too. Although they are growing, for now they are working on a limited budget and pressed for time, a situation familiar to many small companies. So when KRESS's senior software engineer, Manoj Bavikati, was faced with managing the company's entire IT department with only a few resources, the task seemed rather daunting.

Searching for a reporting tool to help cut down on development, Bavikati found Syncfusion's Report Platform. Here was a solution with no costly licensing. The out-of-the-box solutions for rich UI and a reporting solution that worked with Azure were exactly what his company needed to reduce development time. Syncfusion's support team was reliable in helping Bavikati fill in or work around his skill gaps when it came to creating what he needed, and Bavikati was overall relieved to find feature-rich tools that fit with KRESS's financial and time budgets.
