Restaurants

One of the world's largest restaurant chains centralized fraud, privacy, and data governance efforts using a structured response framework—replacing spreadsheets and informal emails with traceable actions and clear responsibilities to strengthen accountability and limit liability exposure.

Business Outcomes

- Automated workflows replaced spreadsheets for response planning
- Centralized platform eliminated confusion and improved speed
- Enabled accountability and reduced personal liability exposure

“We’re beginning to lay the foundation for formal process and documentation... we can eliminate the variability that creeps in with human error.”
