

Web design customer: Remedy Tea Rooms

Project Brief: We were asked for a quote by the owner of Remedy Tea Rooms. This company had been inundated with web designers calling and asking them if they wanted their website, but they had a tight budget and were very particular about what they wanted their website to look like and to do. They also had a little bit of a problem with their domain name as it had been registered by another company who had promised them the earth, and then messed them about and not built them a website that could be used. We helped them to sort out their domain and hosting account and then built the website for them exactly how they wanted it.

Customers Video Review / Testimonial Transcript: "Yeah, hi, I'm Patricia Geitmanski, I'm the owner of the Remedy Tea Shop in Southend. I run a shop on the high street opposite Marks and Spenser's, and we have been open since January last year, 2014. We came to know Joe because he left one of his business cards with us, we picked him because he looked like a reliable and trustworthy person. He has done our website very quickly with no hassle. I strongly recommend him, he is a really good guy, always contactable and always willing to go that extra mile, and erm, yes, we couldn't be happier so yes, go for Joe. Thank you."
