

RENFRIO

Challenge raised

The company dedicated to the inspection and services of vehicle fleet tires Renfrio, had to automate its processes, optimizing its performance and providing a better service to its wide client portfolio. The company required a web application to simplify the processes they performed since they were unproductive, obsolete, complicated and expensive. Rootstack proposed a solution based on an automated system tailored to minimize the problems presented by Renfrio.

Our best services with renfrio

To automate the processes in Renfrio, we decided to use Drupal 7 as a platform and the main Views, Rules and Web services modules, since this technology adapts to Renfrio's needs. This automation demonstrates how the system not only leads to short, medium and long-term benefits but also becomes a fundamental and indispensable tool of the company adding a differentiating value in the market.
