

A litigation firm supercharges their productivity by transitioning to Smokeball's cloud-based system

2x Faster work

Cloud-based platform

Easy migration and onboarding

The Law Office of Natasha Hanna is known as the Ritz-Carlton of real estate closings, delivering exceptional client service. When Natasha's former server-based legal software wasn't keeping up, she chose Smokeball for its all-in-one cloud-based platform that allows her to work on the go across devices. After a fast migration, Natasha and her team dove into the intuitive interface. "Smokeball made the transition between systems so easy, I barely remember it," she says. "They saved the day."

Now Natasha's team works almost twice as fast as they did with their server-based software. Smokeball has increased organization and accuracy without requiring more staff. "Our productivity has increased. Smokeball is like an additional staff person, and it enables my staff to do things easier and faster," Natasha says. By working twice as fast while maintaining accuracy, the Law Office of Natasha Hanna stays ahead of its competition while delivering the high-end client service that keeps the firm growing.
