

Smokeball transforms a solo practice into a paperless powerhouse

100 % free of physical files

Increase in billable hours

Improved efficiency and organization

Attorney Jim Pratt is a solo criminal defense attorney. To successfully operate his practice with no other staff, Jim needs to be organized, efficient, and mobile. Jim selected Smokeball for its user-friendly layout, ability to eliminate physical files, and exceptional customer service. Empowered with the software, he streamlined his processes and transformed Pratt Law into a paperless law office. Now Jim spends his time advocating for his clients rather than worrying about case management.

How Smokeball stands out

- An all-in-one layout tailored to Jim's practice and file structure conventions
- Automatic time tracking to capture time Jim was previously missing out on
- Seamless Microsoft Office and RingCentral integrations that increase productivity and organization
- An intuitive feature set built by lawyers for lawyers

"Smokeball's automation has made being a solo practitioner easier than I could have imagined. While practicing law isn't a 'joy,' Smokeball has made it come pretty close," says Jim.
