Australian Ballet

A perfectly choreographed RFID solution

THE PROBLEM

The Australian Ballet is one of the world's leading ballet companies. With over 25,000 costumes in its collection, each including multiple garments and accessories, the company had listed these assets by associating them with various shows and productions, not as individual items in a central database.

THE SOLUTION

Working with partner Smarttrack, RAMP created a new RFID solution using tags and readers to efficiently track all of the costumes, props and other moveable items as they move around from storage sites to performance venues in Australia and around the world.

THE RESULTS

Items are tracked as they move around, even while still in crates. Australian Ballet personnel are able to quickly carry out stock takes, search for missing items and automatically track the movement of items as they move past a given location. The result is less manual handling and massively reduced time required to track and manage the collection.
