

Web design customer: The Party Shop

Project Brief: This customer needed help because another unscrupulous web designer, had taken her money to build a website, started to build it and then run off with her money. We helped her to track down the thief so she could contact him to ask for her money back. Later we were asked to build a shopping website for her to sell her products on the internet. Customers Video Review / Testimonial Transcript: "Hello, I'm Lisa from the party shop. We had Joe build a website for us and we can thoroughly recommend him. He is always there to help us out whenever we need it, on the end of the phone. So if you need a website designer, I would recommend him. Thanks"
