Track 7 Brewing brew unique artisanal beers in Sacramento, CA.

This small batch microbrewery was established in 2011 as “an outlet for creative expression”, according to CEO and brewmaster, Ryan Graham.

Track 7’s approach to craft beer is rooted in the firmly-hopped West Coast tradition, but without allegiance to a singular brewing style or flavor profile. This approach affords them the opportunity to experiment with many different varieties of beer, regardless of where the regional inspiration comes from.

With five year-round beers and seasonal releases, their two taprooms in Curtis Park and Natomas always promise something intriguing on tap. Both taprooms provide a view into the brewing area, allowing patrons to witness the craft beer brewing process first-hand. The Natomas location also serves as the main production facility.

Both of Track 7 Brewing’s locations boast a live feed for each venue’s beer board. Check in to see which which taproom is pouring what before heading down to enjoy a brew.

After “outgrowing” their previous site, Track 7 Brewing turned to Post Modern Marketing to assist them with an online presence befitting their quality and creativity.

The team also wanted to expand their business opportunities by giving visitors the opportunity to purchase beer and other merchandise right from the website – no middleman.

“Their website was built to showcase their brand, and later integrated WooCommerce to manage their swag and special beer releases.”
