

PROVE IT.

SITUATION

A leading global staffing company was using a vendor with antiquated technology. The archaic system was providing incomplete information and lengthy turnaround times. The lack of speed and accuracy was jeopardizing the company's relationships with major clients.

SOLUTION

The combination of IQLogics and OTTO – which use independently validated address history and Asurint’s National Criminal Information Bureau as its foundation – made an immediate impact for the company. Pulling results from the candidate’s counties of residence as well as the surrounding counties produced a more comprehensive search in less than half the time.
