Users can join study groups and invite classmates

Users can search for study groups and request an access, or get invited by other users. While the most common use of the app is between classmates, the search feature allows them to meet with new people who are learning the same topic.

Creating new groups and scheduling calls is easy and intuitive

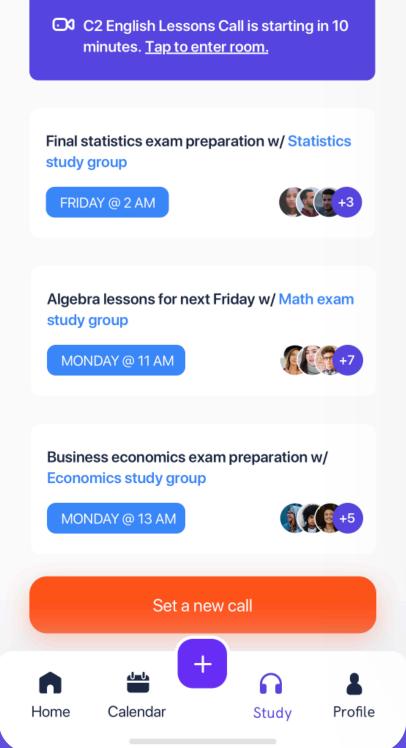

Every user can create a new group or schedule a one-time call. They can connect with other people through the app and send them invites. As soon as the person accepts the invite, (s)he is added to the group and can start scheduling calls and participating.
