

Designing a lifesaving ventilator in just 46 days using IBM DOORS Next

Cut the development time from two years to less than two months. That's what product development consultancy Cambridge Consultants was challenged to do by the UK Government in order to provide ventilators for mass production. Learn how Cambridge Consultants teamed with Persistent Systems to deploy IBM's DOORS Next engineering requirements management solution to build a lifesaving ventilator at lightning speed in just 46 days.