Flexible Automated Test Solution Drives Innovation

Challenge:

Helbling Technik, a leading technology product development firm, needed an efficient automated solution that could provide unit and integration testing capabilities for their engineering services work.

Solution:

VectorCAST provided Helbling Technik with a test suite that offers the flexibility and ease-of-use needed to quickly integrate software testing into their customer's varied development processes.

Details:

With the help of VectorCAST, Helbling Technik constantly expands its capabilities and services, helping clients launch novel and successful products faster.

Helbling Technik