

Murray Resources works with many of the leading companies in Houston, from Fortune 500 companies to dynamic small and medium-sized businesses.

Some of the industries we work with include banking, communications, energy services, environmental, financial services, food services, government, healthcare, insurance, legal, manufacturing, non-profit, oil and gas, retail, and utilities.

Read testimonials from some of the companies and job seekers who have shared their stories with us. You can also watch their videos.

Below are just a few case studies that are reflective of the type of work we do. Click on one of the links below to learn more.

Houston-based Non-Profit – Recruited: Staff at Levels of Organization

Client Background

This client is a non-profit and an innovator in fostering economic and social development, serving over 200,000 people each year. Some of these services include providing youth and senior programs at community centers, assisting with citizenship and immigration issues, and administering programs related to pregnancy and childcare. The corporation also provides education opportunities through head start programs and charter schools.

Challenge

Murray Resources bid for the client's business every year for four years, but never received an opportunity to provide the quality and service that has made it a staffing industry leader. Finally, Murray Resources got the call that the client had been working with less-than-qualified candidates for too long, and that they wanted to focus on working with a quality firm that provided exceptional candidates. The client explained that Murray Resources' results would be evaluated three times a year, and that Murray would have to re-bid on the staffing contract every three years. Also, per client policy, every job order would be provided to both Murray Resources and one other recruiting firm.

Approach

Murray Resources accepted the challenge, and our staffing specialists went to work, providing high-quality candidates who would thrive in the culture at this well-respected nonprofit corporation.

Result

True to form, Murray Resources met the goal of successfully placing outstanding candidates who quickly added value to the client's organization. In short order, Murray Resources was placing over 75% of the client's open positions. Murray Resources has far exceeded the client's expectations, having easily passed every client evaluation, and still maintains a strong business partnership.