ABOUT

Desert Rat Welding, LLC

Based in Washington, Utah, Desert Rat Welding, LLC specializes in high-quality welding, steel, and fabrication services. They deliver reliable solutions for a range of industrial and commercial projects.

“With our bid turnaround improved, we can bid on bigger projects now that our takeoffs are automated.”

CHALLENGES

Before using Beam AI, Desert Rat Welding faced several inefficiencies in their takeoff and bidding process:

/1

Time-consuming manual takeoffs:

Their previous takeoff software required extensive manual work, consuming valuable hours.

/2

Limited bandwidth for bids: Spending too much time on takeoffs meant fewer bids could be submitted and the slow manual process made it difficult to submit bids on time.

/3

Accuracy concerns: Manually counting materials often led to miscalculations, affecting bid competitiveness.

BREAKING DOWN THE KEY WINS

By switching to Beam AI, Desert Rat Welding significantly improved its estimating and bidding workflow:

/1

80% reduction in time spent on takeoffs. Now, only 10-20% of the previous effort is needed.

/2

Bid turnaround time improved. What used to take 1-2 days now takes just a few hours.

/3

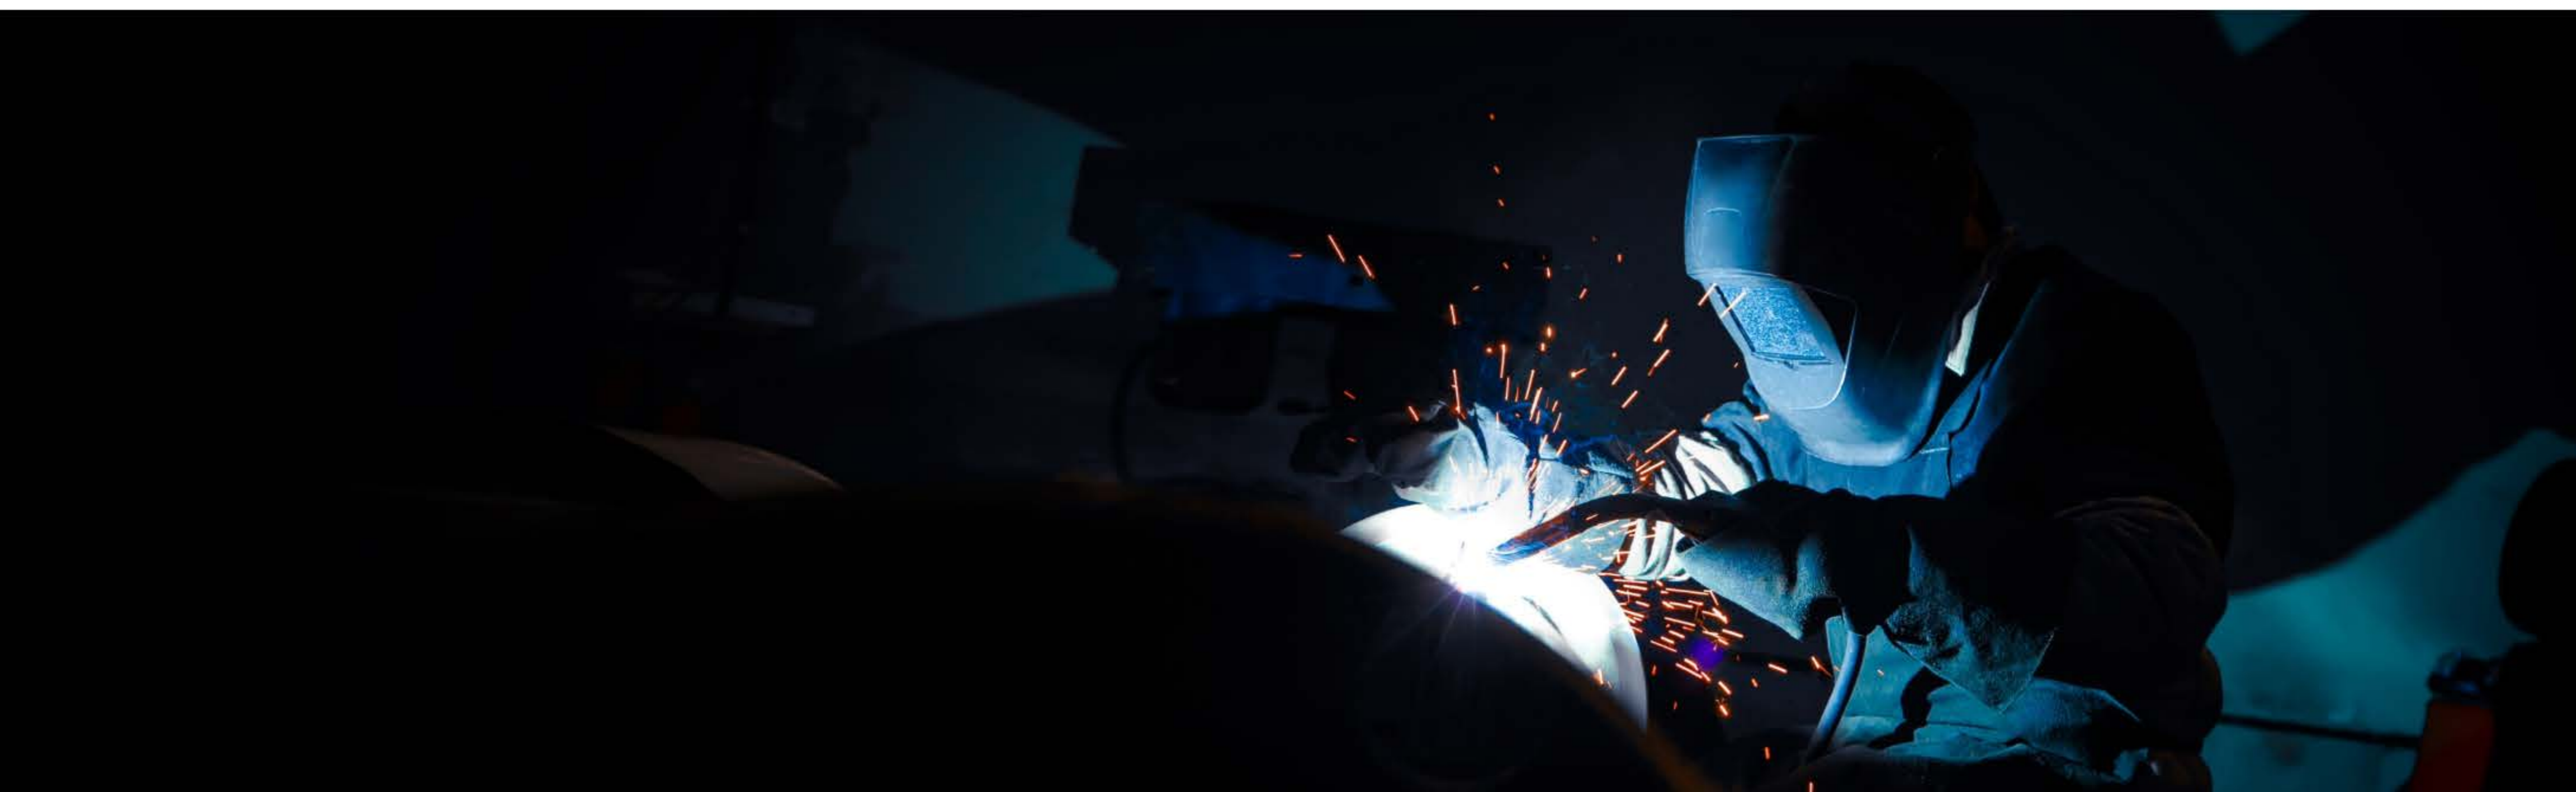

More accurate estimates. Auto-counting ensures fewer errors and more competitive bids.

/4

More bids submitted. No more missed bid deadlines, increasing opportunities.

/5

Bigger projects pursued. With time freed up, they can now bid on larger, more lucrative jobs.

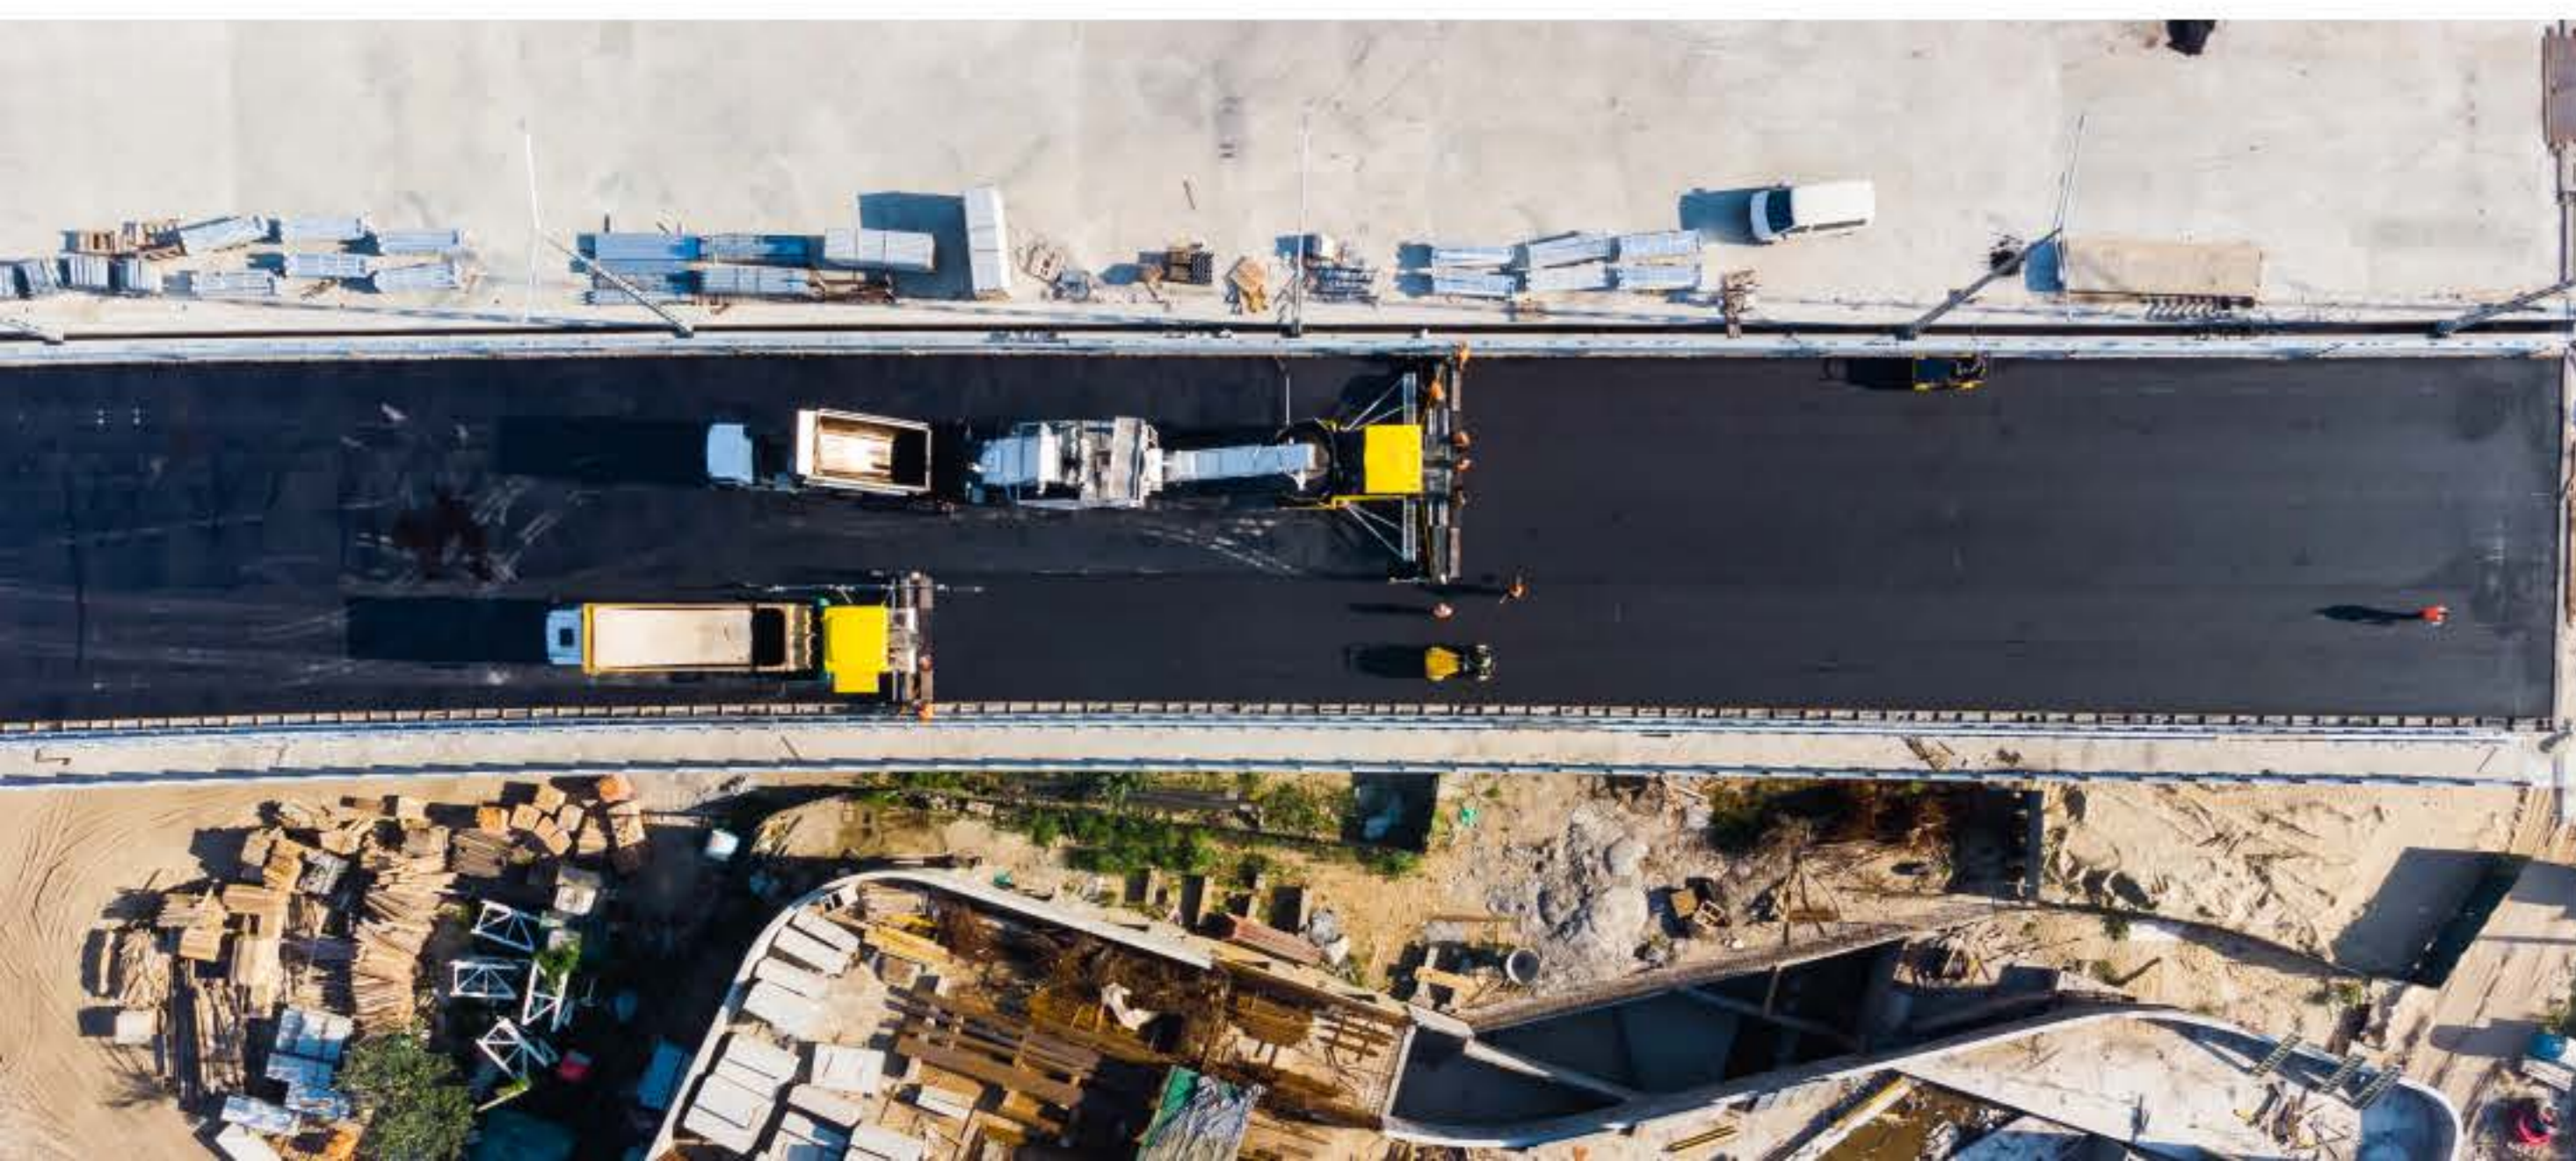

— Stronger competitiveness. More accurate bids improve the chances of winning jobs.

— Bidding on larger projects. The company is now taking on bigger opportunities that weren't feasible before.

BUSINESS IMPACT

— With Beam AI, Desert Rat Welding has seen immediate and transformative results:

— Increased efficiency. Less time on takeoffs means more focus on other key responsibilities.
