What challenges did you have generating sales or leads?

Hi, my name is Sorcha McAloon. I'm based in Northern Ireland, but I have clients worldwide.

My business is called Life Free From Abuse. I help high-achieving women who appear to have it all, but underneath, they struggle with childhood trauma.

I help these women heal and solve their childhood trauma without years of therapy.

Before discovering StealthSeminar, I had no marketing strategy. It was a struggle, and I had no idea how to find clients and get my message out into the world.

Being in this kind of business, if you're not reaching the women you want to, it's easy to start questioning yourself. It's easy to consider given up.

It's such a destructive mindset when you've come so far, and you can't seem to make that final hurdle.

Did you have any concerns about going ahead with StealthSeminar?

Of course, I had doubts. I was worried that it wouldn't work!

I mean, what if put all of this energy, time and investment into this strategy and it and it still doesn't work?

It was also the software and moving parts. Having confidence in the technical side was my biggest problem.

What was your eureka moment?

I knew that StealthSeminar was working when I started to get people contacting me consistently. I also started getting a lot of positive feedback on my presentations, masterclasses and webinars.

I got to that point where my work was resonating with somebody. I felt like I had finally started talking to the people I was trying to reach.
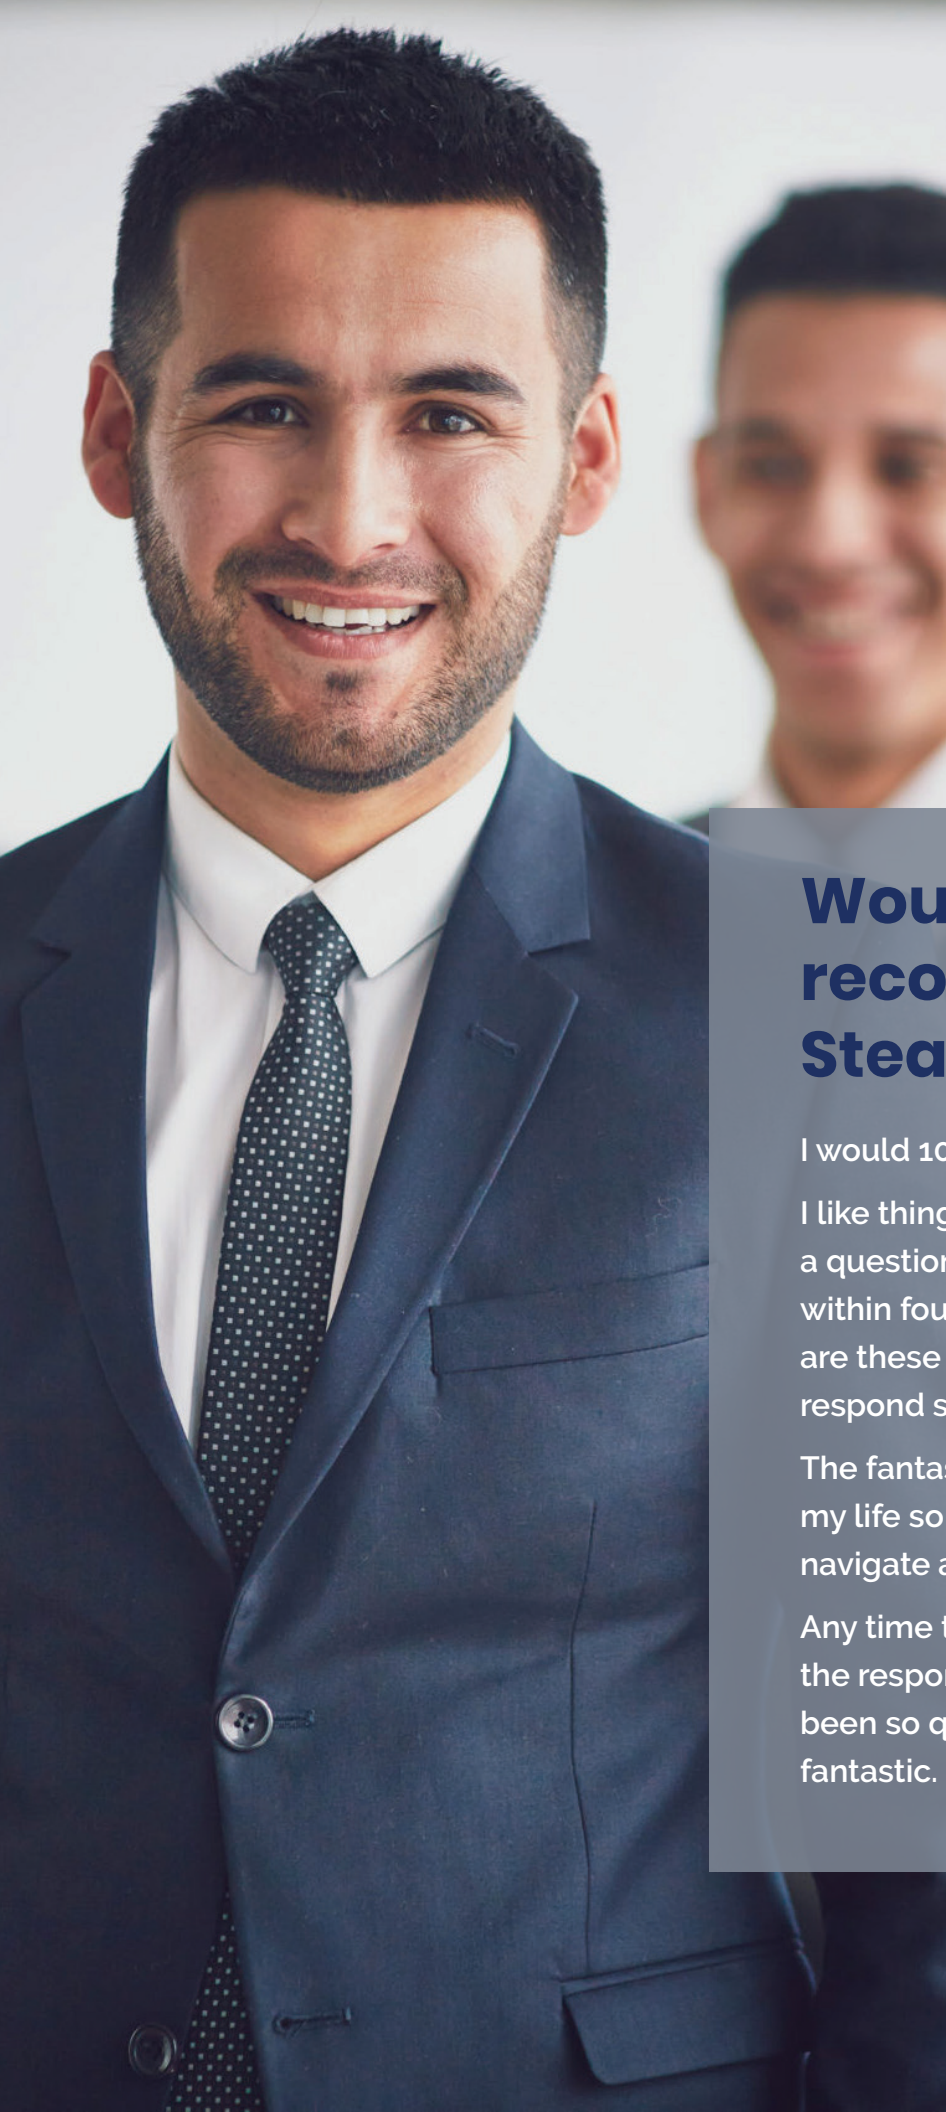

How did StealthSeminar help you?

Because of Stealth Seminar, and just how easy it is to use, I have clients everywhere, and I can reach them.

StealthSeminar is the platform that allows me to connect with women all over the world who all have the same problem. I'm able to get my presentation and my work out to them and talk to them.

If I knew it could be this easy, I'd have probably started a lot sooner!

StealthSeminar made me realize that it was possible. They have created this platform, this software that has no limits. It lets you reach the world!

Would you recommend Stealth Seminar?

I would 100% recommend StealthSeminar.

I like things done very quickly. When I ask a question from support, I get responses within four minutes. What I'm amazed at are these guys are in America and can still respond so quickly!

The fantastic support they offer makes my life so easy. The platform is easy to navigate and easy to use.

Any time that I have had a query or issue, the response has been phenomenal. It's been so quick every single time, and it's fantastic.
