SutiExpense Data Reconciliation Improved the Expense Reporting Process for King Solutions

Two reasons that made King Solutions go with SutiExpense are the customization and the price. The pricing was much affordable and the team was willing to include all the features we requested.

The Need for an Automated Expense Solution

King Solutions used spreadsheets to manage the expense reporting process. However, the process was very tedious due to the manual process of coding credit card transactions and retrieving receipts from employees. So, the company started their search for expense reporting solutions such as Concur. Since that solution is costly, the company switched to SutiExpense.

Effortless Expense Reporting

For the most part, King Solutions use credit card reconciliation to process reimbursements faster. Auto-scan is one of the key features that have helped automate data entry from receipts. When there are too many receipts, employees are able to quickly upload multiple receipts at a time, alleviating the pain to shoebox all the receipts until their reimbursement is processed. Users simply create and submit expense reports and the rest is processed by the SutiExpense tool.

Overview
King Solutions is a leading supply chain management firm that specializes in LTL, domestic logistics, freight transportation, retail project management, warehousing, shipping, and packaging services. The company aims to help shippers improve the flow of materials within the domestic and global supply chain services. With the growing database, it has been difficult to access the stock information and warehouse without an appropriate system. The company witnessed rapid growth of overwhelming goods and services, which surely demanded the need for an automated system.

What Features do King Solutions Love the Most in SutiExpense?

All the features are appreciated, but the following are the two features that King Solutions loved in SutiExpense:

Integration

SutiExpense can be easily integrated with various third-party solutions such as travel booking portals and accounting systems. The data can be easily synchronized from a travel booking portal or accounting system to the expense application. This would not only speed up the approval and reimbursement process, but also gives complete and clear visibility into the internal processes.

User Interface

The user interface (UI) is another key feature that made expense reporting even easier. The easy-to-use UI helped employees to report expenses faster and speed up the reimbursement process. Also, the advanced analytics make it easy for the accounting department to identify how and where employees are spending the most. Detailed charts and graphs give you 360-degree visibility into spending and allow you to make informed decisions.

Final Note

As the company continues to scale to new heights, SutiExpense can grow with the increasing workforce and make the expense reporting process hassle-free.

"Data synchronization between credit cards and SutiExpense is extremely good. I can see all the transactions made using the credit card without having to look for receipts anymore."
