

SutiExpense Have Alleviated the Need of Paper and Tedious Tasks for National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying

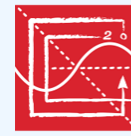

"The solution is easy to use and has been quite exciting so far. It has successfully resolved many problems, and we consider SutiExpense into our constant enhancement journey."

Laura Painter

Inconveniences

Before SutiExpense, running things manually was extremely time-consuming and involved a lot of tedious operations. The finance department at NCEES was swamped with heavy paper-work as receipts were piling up with expense claims. Employees had to send their receipts to their approvers; taking up two weeks to get the final approver on the report. There was no proper tracking, and everything was in continuous flux.

The entire process lacked control and reporting on a central level became daunting and difficult, as it had to be pulled out manually. There was no visibility on employee spend, and they had to depend on income statements and accounts reports, thus creating complexity for approvers when breaking down spend.

NCEES
advancing licensure for engineers and surveyors

Headquarters

Seneca, South Carolina, United States

Year Founded

1920

Size

51 to 200 employees

About the Organization

The American non-profit organization, National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES), provides professional licensure for engineers and surveyors by creating, overseeing and scoring the examinations taken. They assist consistency and mobility of the United States license methods via services for licensees and member licensing boards. It is designed for the present licensed surveyors and engineers who are searching for a quick way to complete the licensure procedure in multiple jurisdictions, involving all the fifty states.

SutiExpense to the Rescue

The organization checked for online software programs with good reviews and came across SutiExpense. After implementing the solution, some major benefits were noticed across the entire organization such as an enormous reduction in effort and time needed to process expense reports. It shortened the reimbursement cycle for employees with direct deposit.

The solution allowed NCEES to remain on top of expenses with real-time visibility into spends. Managers can enter comments in error-prone expense claims, thus enabling employees to fix issues instantly without further delays. SutiExpense has helped them to eliminate manual processes completely and has simplified the work of their accountant by automatically flagging out-of-policy expenses.

Features Liked by National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying

- Customization
- User experience
- Customer service
- Pricing
- Intuitive design

"SutiExpense had all the essential features that we needed. The solution streamlined expense management process and enabled employees to focus on the larger picture instead of wasting time and worrying about expense processing."

Laura Painter