Customer Success Report

Email Security Software Category

Email security software monitors a company's outbound and inbound email traffic for malicious and unwanted messages. These tools quarantine or block spam, phishing attacks, and malware. Advanced solutions also provide data loss prevention capability as well as email encryption features for outbound email.

Email security software helps to ensure staff compliance and prevent internet threats. The program funnels incoming emails through spam filters and scans messages before transmitting them across a firewall. These tools include user governance or labeling functions to determine malicious actors and stop them from communicating further. Their archiving capabilities enable enterprises to keep a log of past communications for both reference and compliance purposes.
