Enterprise Content Management Software Category

Enterprise content management (ECM) software enables companies to manage, distribute, and organize unstructured content like web pages, emails, product information, surveys, accounting or health records, images, and documents. Organizations use this platform to store, edit, track, and collaborate on content production and other information-associated projects, while maintaining appropriate and predefined security levels. Staff at all levels of a company can use ECM software to access and share information based on role-based user privileges delegated by a system admin.

FEATURED TESTIMONIALS

"Thanks to DocuWare, we've been able to avoid adding another full-time employee to the accounting department—which we would otherwise need to keep up with the volume of invoices. The key advantage in terms of order processing is that all information is available immediately. We used to spend a great deal of time searching for information, which slowed down the process. On top of that, we now print about 270,000 fewer documents each year."

EILEEN SPIES
HEAD OF ACCOUNTING, GIEBELER-FEUERSCHUTZ

"The AI-based DocuWare IDP replaces time-consuming, monotonous routine work with automated processes. Our previous solutions required constant programming adjustments, but with artificial intelligence, the software learns 'on the job' and the recognition rate increases continuously. This saves considerable time for administrative employees."

PIENING PERSONAL

"Once we started using DocuWare in the Accounts Payable Department, we recognized it would be just as effective in other areas of our business and save us just as much time. So we decided to introduce it to our Manufacturing Department, and that really changed things."

ANDY DERR
OPERATIONS MANAGER, M.H. EBY

"Paper-based order processing went well for a number of years but, as the order volume increased, we had massive problems that made our processes slow and complicated. It was long past time to switch to a DMS."

FEATURED TESTIMONIALS

"PrinterLogic just works and it's very intuitive to use. I needed almost no instruction to install it right out of the box, and I had all the printers in our organization deployed in a couple days. In fact, almost all of them were deployed on the very first day PrinterLogic was in place."

JUSTIN J. MEEK
SR., COMPUTER PROGRAMMER ANALYST, CINCINNATI POLICE DEPARTMENT

"PrinterLogic was pretty instrumental in our transition over to the thin-client Parallels system that we have now. Now it's a more seamless thin-client deployment where it's only the application we're deploying, not the full desktop environment."

JUSTIN BEEBE
SYSTEMS ANALYST, PHYSICIAN PARTNERS OF AMERICA

"PrinterLogic eliminated our dependency on print servers, so that was a lot of maintenance and support that was taken off our plates."

EARL DEMIAR
IT SUPPORT SERVICES MANAGER, HUNTON & WILLIAMS LLP

"Vasion is a serious game changer."
