ETHAN BYNOE
VP OF BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT, KILLER INFOGRAPHICS

“We first started using Amazon Chime for the audio and video features, but having chat in the same application has been a real bonus. The chat functionality has really reduced our email traffic. It was important for us to have a single app because our previous provider had three different apps for different functionalities and we needed something that was streamlined and simple to use. Chime has been a great solution for us.”

RASHEED COLE
IT MANAGER, REDPEG MARKETING

“Amazon Chime has provided a platform for us to use a single product for online meetings, voice and video chat, along with in-room conferencing services. Working across any client device using native applications or browser extension, the experience can be seamless for our associates and external meeting participants. The value proposition of the pay-per-use pricing will now be enhanced by the Business Calling capability, enabling us to direct-dial phones in over 100 countries. This will lower telecommunications costs overall, and help further simplify our technology landscape.”

PHILLIP MILLER
HEAD OF INFRASTRUCTURE, BROOKS BROTHERS

“Amazon Chime allows us to communicate with customers with in-browser video and screenshare enabled so they don't have to download a native client, as this is often blocked by hospital firewalls. Chime has the most features we want for the price. We already use Amazon to support a lot of our infrastructure and it made sense to move our collaboration workload to AWS as well.”
