Customer Success Report

Next-Gen AI Software Category

“Next-Gen AI software” isn’t a single product—it’s a broad term for the newest wave of artificial intelligence systems that go beyond traditional automation and basic machine learning. It usually refers to tools and platforms built on recent advances like large language models, generative AI, and autonomous agents.

Next-gen AI software is smarter, more creative, more interactive, and more autonomous than earlier AI. Instead of just analyzing data, it helps think, create, and act alongside humans.
