“JetBlue gets thousands of donation requests each year. Without the [Benevity] system, there's no way we could review and track all those requests. [Benevity] enables us to standardize our approach and manage the volume. Beyond these key product benefits, the client service team at [Benevity] is a big plus. We've worked with [Benevity] for 10 years and have developed a real partnership. They have deep history on our organization and giving program so they're able to make recommendations for best practices based on work with hundreds of different companies. This is hugely valuable for us.”

EVAN JARASHOW

“[Benevity's] system provided us with many features to streamline our review of educational and research related grant applications. The Quick View option has been a huge help- our old system made you login to review anything and that was painful to individuals who did not go into the system on a regular basis. The [Benevity] email tool is much more user-friendly as well- giving you the option to pick which template you want to use.”
