Customer Success Report

Corporate Performance Management (CPM) Software Category

Corporate performance management (CPM) software is used by enterprises to define and manage the strategies they require to track their business performance. The platform is utilized to create and execute processes and methodologies, enabling companies to monitor key performance indicators (KPIs) related to their corporate objectives. Typically, executives and managers leverage this solution to improve business performance, while accounting units also deploy it to assess financial performance.

CPM products consolidate several kinds of business information (sales, operational, financial, etc.) across all business units of a company. Therefore, the application needs to be integrated with software tools such as supply chain and logistics, CRM, accounting, and ERP solutions. In addition, integration is also required with governance, risk, and compliance software to manage risks that could affect business performance.
