Customer Success Report

Applicant Tracking Software Category

Applicant tracking software (ATS) helps to manage the hiring and recruiting process, including job postings and applications. It creates searchable information on job seekers and organizes it. Plus, an ATS tracks applicants through the hiring procedure, assists in scheduling, issues alerts, and sends automated email messages to candidates. With this software, you can also cull applicants. It performs a preliminary evaluation of the candidates to select ideal fits for an opening. The objective is to speed up HR's review of resumes and job applications. The solution can search for keywords and utilize AI algorithms to deeply analyze job applicants.

“The service is exceptional. Your staff is over the top when it comes to helping make the deal happen. I have had numerous instances where contracts had to be negotiated, and you made it happen. I wouldn't think of using any other service for my contract staffing. The background checks, the ability to drug test employees, and the ability to offer benefits all make my two-person company look like — and operate like — a large corporation.
