WINTER 2026
Customer Success Report

IT Asset Management Software Category

IT Asset Management (ITAM) software is used to manage all elements of hardware and software used by an organization. It allows enterprises to implement business practices that include IT assets across the firm's business units. You can combine ITAM with risk, contractual, inventory, and financial management processes to efficiently handle the lifecycle of these assets, including tactical decision making.

ITAM software helps to collect detailed software and hardware inventory information which is utilized to make informed decisions on purchases and how assets are leveraged. Precise IT asset inventory assists businesses to more effectively use their existing assets and avoid needless asset buys by re-utilizing current resources. ITAM also allows enterprises to reduce the expenses of unknowingly developing new IT projects on unknown or outdated infrastructure foundations.

Certero has become an essential solution for us that's used right across the business, from senior leadership to technical staff. Certero isn't point-in-time, it provides us with live information. I don't like people doing extracts of data as they're immediately out of date. I like to drive everything via dashboards that can be shared easily, plus they're common and can be used for multiple purposes, rather than spending hours creating spreadsheets for a single use at a single time.

TECHNOLOGY PROCESS MANAGER
