WINTER 2026
Customer Success Report

Payroll Software Category

Payroll software is used to compensate staff members for time worked. This solution can be bought as a standalone system or as part of a HR software platform in which it is a module. With payroll software, you can calculate paychecks from attendance tracking tools and logged work hours. The application then makes payments via paychecks or direct deposit into workers' accounts. Plus, it calculates and withholds deductions and taxes.

All companies - big and small in any industry - that employ staff members need to provide compensation to them. Payroll needs to be done regularly and accurately, and therefore businesses need a platform that automates these workflows. Payroll software helps to save time, improves compliance, and reduces errors.
